Getting the Auto Number Field in MS Access

Posted At : March 19, 2006 10:26 AM | Posted By : Mark Kruger
Related Categories: Coldfusion & Databases, Coldfusion Tips and Techniques

As a follow up to this Previous Post on using the @@Identify Field and it's related function "scope_identity()", it appears that it is possible to do this same thing in Access. Charlie Arehart has posted a great article with some examples titled "Select @@Identity Works in Access. Worth Exploring. Check it out.