I know I shouldn't feel good about this, and I dearly love Macromedia for providing me a splendid income, but it does my heart good to know that the best minds in the industry don't think of everything (ha). I went to check my Click Report on the weblog site (weblogs.macromedia.com) and I was greeted with an error:

Application.queries.FeedResults is undefined

...or something like that. It was only there for a few moments I'm sure - but it was enough to bring a slight smile to my weary face. Yes, I know I know "Love does not delight in evil".

(Alex Y. posted a screen shot of the error on his blog.)
