

New Job Openings in 2007

Posted At : February 12, 2007 6:53 PM | Posted By : Mark Kruger

Related Categories: Job Openings

Once again CF Webtools is looking for a web developer and a creative director to begin. Our company is located in Omaha NE - the jewel of the Midwest and the best kept secret in the U.S. We offer a competitive salary, health, flex plan, disability, life ins., and 401k (immediately vested). We have exciting, cutting-edge projects in CF 7, Farcry, Fusebox and Flex. We offer flexible work hours (1 day a week telecommute option), bonus structure and referral incentives, and a great crew to join. If you are interested, send me or Jason your resume. You can also call us at (402) 408 3733. More about the positions below.

Beginning Web Developer

We have an opening for a beginning web programmer. If you, or someone you know is just starting out and wants a great opportunity, don't hesitate to email or call us or send a resume. We will consider applicants from college as well.

Job Description

- Must have some knowledge of web programming (PHP, ASP, .NET, JSP or of course Coldfusion). It can be academic knowledge but you must be able to demonstrate it.
- Any other technical skills are a plus - Linux experience, server configuration, DBA, familiarity with different database platforms, SDLC experience and the like.
- Must be familiar in other aspects of web development like HTML, CSS, XHTML etc.
- Must work well with others, but also be able to work independently.
- Must be an avid reader of Coldfusion Muse (not really).
- Must have an aptitude for grasping and mastering new technologies as they emerge. We are currently moving into Flex development. This is really the most important requirement. If you have this ability you will do well in our company

Salary is based on experience.

Designer / Creative Director

We are looking to add a creative person to our team. CF Webtools has always used contractor to accomplish creative work so this will be our first creative team member. This is a beginner to intermediate level position. We are looking for someone to grow with us.

Job Description

- Must have some rudimentary knowledge of web programming.
- Must be able to produce design concepts as mockups in a graphics program like PS or Fireworks.
- Must be well versed in other aspects of web development like HTML, CSS, XHTML etc. Our process often requires taking an image based mockup and creating CSS based templates from it to use in our application programming.
- Additional expertise in Flash and/or Flex is a big plus.

- Must be able to project confidence to our customers regarding creative work.
- Must work well with others, but also be able to work independently.
- Must have an aptitude for grasping and mastering new technologies as they emerge. We are currently moving into Flex development. This is really the most important requirement. If you have this ability you will do well in our company.

Salary is based on experience. Omaha is a great place to live with a low cost of living.